Charles H. Lester, 49 Years on Norwich and Worcester Division, Dropped Dead Saturday Evening With Heart Disease in Railroad Yard-His Train Was Held Up by Coal Car Across Track.

The sudden death of Charles H.
Lester of No. 19 Hill street, a veteran of nearly 50 years in employment on the Norwich and Worcester division of the New Haven road, occurred Saturday evening about 6.30 in the railroad freight yard at a point below Crown Hill on Laurel Hill. Mr. Lester dropped dead with heart disease while talking to two men in the yard.

He was brakeman on the passenger train running from New London to Norwich and due here at 6.47, this being his last run for the day, and the train was held up upon its arrival here by a wreck in the yard that had blocked both the main line and the passing siding at this point: Conductor Vickery was in charge of the train, which was stopped in order to transfer man named Robinson when as he leaned over as if to put his hand on the shoulder of one of them he dropped with the fatal attack.

As soon as it was ascertained that it was useless to call a physician, word was sent to the city to notify the acting medical examiner, Dr. E. T. Brewer, who went to the station, if rom which a locomotive and car took him to the piace in the yard where Mr. Lesters, who went to the station, if rom which a locomotive and car took him to the piace in the yard where Mr. Lesters, who went to the station, if rom which a locomotive and car took him to the piace in the yard where Mr. Lesters, who went to the station, if rom which a locomotive and car took him to the piace in the yard where Mr. Lesters, who went to the station, if rom which a locomotive and car took him to the piace in the yard where Mr. Lesters, the was faithful in his employment, went to the station, if rom which a locomotive and car took him to the piace in the yard where Mr. Lesters, the was faithful in his employment, went to the station of the Naw Haven road. In 1890-91 he was resident orgeon and physician of the Brooklyn ospital. For a year and a half after in 1890. his marriage he was located at Taco-ma. Wash., after which he came to Norwich having since resided here. On Norwich having since resided here, On November 19, 1909, Dr. Kimball was appointed medical examiner for the town of Norwich by Coroner Franklin H. Brown, to succeed the late Dr. George R. Harris. He was well qualified for the office and looked well after all requirements of his position. Dr. Kimball had a high stand among tle medical profession having bee ical associations. He was also a member of the state medical associa-tion and of the American Medical as-

So far as known Sunday evening Policeman Ebberts has tendered no formal resignation to the police commissioners, as Alderman Henry Gebrath, who is chalrman of the police commissioners, said on Sunday evening when questioned about Policeman Ebberts' departure that this was the first he hind known that the officer had left.

The officer's last service on his beat on Laurel Hill was on Thursday evening. Before he left the city he told Chief George Linton that he had seem the commissioners and had arranged about going.

Policeman Ebberts was elected to the force in June, 1885, and began his long and efficient service on the first day of July in that year. For the last few years he has had the night beat on Laurel Hill and before that had long had the daytime beat in the center of the city. In the line of duty he was recognized as a fearless and efficient officer, who was ready for any task that was assigned him and undinching in the performance of any work that was called for, however hazardous. He had done duty on both day and night beats in many parts of the city.
